ATTENTION WOMEN OF CALVARY!

Women's History Month Coming in March!

The Women of Purpose Ministry is accepting nominations for this year's celebration of outstanding Calvary women during Women's History Month. Each Sunday in March, a woman of Calvary will be recognized for her contributions to our history.

CRITERIA: Candidate must exemplify extraordinary achievement or contributions to the church or to the community she serves. She should be someone who is the first to accomplish various achievements in her professional, social or academic field or her contributions to the community or church have been extraordinary.

FOR EXAMPLE: Missionary Sharon Dunlap was recognized for her role and personal involvement in our Foreign Missions Ministry and her dedication to the youth of Calvary through her work in the Christian Education ministry. Dr. Judy L. Banks, a life-long resident of Morris County and Calvary Baptist Church was recognized for having touched and shaped the lives of many through her charitable work and contributions locally, nationally and internationally.

Nominate a candidate in one paragraph. Simply complete a nomination form which can be found on the table near the Willow Street entrance and on the landing at the front of the church.

Please place the completed form in the Women of Purpose Ministry mailbox in the rear of the church near the copier by February 20.

NEW EMBARKMENT

Embarking on a new year is both exciting and challenging. Many, if not every one of us, has a desire to accomplish at least one new goal this year, tackle some uncharted territory or reach for the elusive anew. Whatever they may be, setting goals are advantageous, good for the mind and the spirit.

Successfully undertaking any goal for 21 days, someone has claimed, we are supposed to never have to face as a challenge thereafter. Unfortunately, I am sure this is not always true for I have managed to conquer some things for 21 days, and regretfully, have reneged afterwards. But what do we do if we find ourselves having gone back on our word? Do not allow discouragement to reside permanently; just pick it up and try, try again – every time!

Speaking of new, you have to read the Pastor's Pen to find out our church theme for 2011, and discover more of what is in store for us during the year! What Shall We Be?, this month's Biblical Perspective, is worth the read. You may also find it helpful as you take on any new challenges. Also, it is always great to know what God is doing in the lives of fellow members, so check out Illuminations' featured Calvary member, Reverend Herman Scott. Perhaps you will find encouragement and strength to trust that God also has a plan for you, and the Trustees have provided some good, sound advice to us, as always, as we seek to do ministry more excellently. Be sure to check out these stories and all of the other information.

Look and expect great things from God even when it gets increasingly difficult to do so. God has a way of giving us strength and courage to face anything we truly give to Him, knowing that our strength and help comes from nowhere else but Him. ■

Happy reading,

WHY STUDY ICEBERGS?

You may be wondering... "Why in the world – with all of the snow and ice we have had this winter – do we need to do a book and Bible study on icebergs?" Well, we're studying Our Iceberg Is Melting, an adult fable by leadership and change guru John Kotter, to help us transition for the better. This story of how a colony of Emperor Penguins adapts to change really opens our theme for 2011: New Wine, New Wineskins: Transitioning for the Better. In the fable, the penguins discover the need for change, identify what has to be done, take the necessary action and adapt to their new way of living.

Over the next several weeks we will read and study Our Iceberg Is Melting along side the Scriptural example of how God called the children of Israel to transition out of bondage in Egypt into a new life in the Promised Land. Fables, narratives and parables are great teaching tools because they show us more than they tell us. As we place ourselves in the penguins' context, we may discover some of our own thoughts and feelings about change actually...transitioning for the better.

Whether we like it, or not, change is an inescapable part of life on earth. This is true for individuals, organizations, families and even nature. It's especially true for the Church in the 21st Century. Statistics show us that church attendance decreases with each new generation.

Among those born before 1946, 51% of the population attended church

1946-1964	41%
1965-1976	34%
1977-1994	less than 30%

We are not embarking upon this book & Bible study on changing and succeeding under any condition and embracing a 2011 thematic emphasis of New Wine, New Wineskins: Transitioning for the Better to be trendy or trivial. We are doing this so that we can be courageous enough to do what has to be done to reach and relate to this next generation.

We need not be alarmed by the statistics. Christ Himself planted the Church and promised that it would prevail in an ever-changing culture. In Matthew 9:17 Jesus tells us what we need to do. Allow me to paraphrase what I hear Him saying: "If you're going to reach this next generation, you will have to pour some new wine. And, if you're going to pour new wine, you have to use new wineskins. If you pour the new wine into the old skin (that's tradition for tradition's sake) the skins will break and the wine will be wasted."

As we transition for the sake of the kingdom's expansion, it may mean that some of us will be uncomfortable initially. Yet, we will succeed in accomplishing our ultimate aim, which is to glorify God by making disciples of Jesus Christ. ■

FOCUS ON FACILITIES: A VITAL CALVARY MINISTRY

BY MINISTER DAVID A. HOLLOWELL

Have you wondered recently how the Mahalia Jackson fellowship Hall gets transformed so miraculously from event to event for the plethora of activities on the church's schedule? Or have you marveled that the walkways seem to always be shoveled and salted shortly after every snow storm? Or how the ambience is comfortable for worship, planning or practice no matter what day of the week or time of day it is? If you have, you can credit the CBC facilities staff for being on top of every situation that needs attention in the building and its surroundings. That capable and responsive staff includes Edward (Ed) Murphy, Facilities Manager, Dramone (Zeke) Pierce, Deacon Anthony Rodgers, and Sammie Palmer.

As Bro. Murphy emphasizes, his team is committed to serving the congregation and the church's ministries by ensuring that the infrastructure is in place to support church functions and events, as well as daily operations. A significant portion of the facilities staff time is devoted to managing setup for meetings, classes, conferences, and other activities. However, the scope of their work stretches far beyond this responsibility. The facilities staff also contains within its purview many additional duties, among which are:

- Overall upkeep of the church's property, including the main building at 10 Martin Luther King Avenue, the Well-spring Center at 13 Martin Luther King Avenue, the Rowe Building, and a house on Mt. Airy Road, a block away from the church,
- Supervising contractors for lawn care and snow removal,
- Repair and renovation projects, such as painting, carpentry, plumbing, and general maintenance functions,
- Providing planning input to major projects that are put out to bid,
- Monitoring the work of external contractors,
- Crisis management, and
- Troubleshooting problems that may arise at the Pastor's home.

As the facilities staff pursues its ongoing rigorous schedule, it is also overseeing modifications to the Rowe Building in 2011, preparing that facility (which eventually be sold) for housing some of the programs run under the auspices of CBC's Youth Ministries. Some of this work involves painting, shaving doors for a better fit, repairing a drop ceiling and replacing worn carpets. Bro. Murphy, in conjunction with the Trustee ministry, has attempted to keep as much of this work as possible in-house to keep costs down.

Calvary Baptist Church facilities are available to members, non-members, local community groups, and non-profit organizations whose beliefs and missions are in line with those of the church. The facilities are not available for monetary gain, political gain, or fund raising. Ministries, individuals, or organizations desiring to reserve a classroom, the chapel, the fellowship hall, or the sanctuary for an approved meeting or event can obtain required forms and guidelines from the church office. As Bro. Murphy urges, "Use us when you need us. We are here for you." Let's applaud the facilities staff for its dedication and professionalism. ■

A NOTE FROM THE TRUSTEES

Dear Church Leaders:

The Trustees look forward to furthering the church's Mission with you in 2011. We ask that you remain mindful of the following:

Know Your Budget – Before you spend the church's money, know how much you have left in your budget to spend. Your specific budget may be adjusted throughout the year as the Pastor is led; you will be notified of any changes to your specific budget by e-mail. Do not exceed your budget.

Be Good Stewards – Please avoid waste. Help the church save its money to use instead for the expansion of His kingdom. Don't make more copies than you need. Please try to use front and back when you are copying and reduce the number of copies for the same announcement each week.

Spend Wisely – If you're going to spend over $1,000 at any one time, even though it has been approved and is in your budget, first consult with the Trustee assigned to your Ministry (see attached) before making the expenditure so the Trustees can ensure that the funds to cover the expense are in the church's account at the correct time.

Eat Purposefully – Your budget for food should be spent for mission purposes, which are inclusive of outreach and "fellowship" endeavors. Please minimize the number of events which include meals.

Document Spending – Be sure to submit to the Finance Office, complete, signed vouchers and paid receipts for all expenses incurred.

Communicate – If more than one person leads your ministry, communicate spending intentions with one another and stay abreast of your ministry's running budget total. When in doubt, consult with the Trustee assigned to your ministry.

Thank you and we look forward to working with you in His vineyard this year.

Yours in Christ,
The Trustees

ILLUMINATIONS

SHINING A LIGHT ON CALVARY MEMBER

WITH MINISTER EVONNE JEFFERSON

Reverend Herman Scott

GOD'S FAVOR - A LEANING IN YOUR DIRECTION

In October 2000, Pastor Carter asked if I would be interested in overseeing the Calvary Baptist Prison Ministry, which at that time had no ministerial leader. At that time, the mission of the ministry was to impact the Morristown community.

Although I understood the assignment, I didn't know how to get started. So, one Sunday, while serving communion at a member's home, I was introduced to Diane Ritchie who later introduced me to, Elsie Davis, who was employed as the warden of the jail. Isn't God good! She was able to assist me with obtaining access into the jail.

Our beginnings were quite humble, consisting of two classes - one for women and one for men. Collectively, there were three students, one woman attending the women's class and two men in the men's class. Since that time, the number of students and classes offered has increased greatly. I praise God for the expansion of students and classes now numbering 75 and 6, respectively.

Students and classes are not the only things that have changed over the years. Katherine Schwartz, who for eight years served in the role of chaplain, suddenly resigned, and the chaplaincy position was left vacant for the next nine months. The Morris County Chaplaincy Board sought, unsuccessfully, to fill the position. Countless resumes and conducting numerous interviews garnered no suitable person for the role. Rich Kaller, the chairman of the board, and I had been discussing retirement timeframes at my fulltime job. I mentioned that I was considering retiring within three years, which then led to a discussion of me possibly retiring early and taking the position as chaplain at the jail. Rich Kaller replied, "Whatever salary you need to retire, the board will make [you] that offer." After 30 years, at PSE&G, I will officially retire on March 31, 2011.

December, 1, 2010, I officially became the full-time chaplain at the Morris County Correctional Facility. My duties are to correlate religious studies, offer counseling and provide spiritual services for the 330 inmates housed in the facility. Thus far, seven classes have been established: two are offered on Monday nights from 7:00pm until 9:30pm; Friday nights beginning at 7:15pm until 9:45pm and Saturdays from 1:00pm until 3:00pm. All classes run simultaneously for women and men.

Our goal in 2011 is to provide spiritual knowledge of Jesus Christ and the impact and concern that goes along with that knowledge. ■

BIBLICAL PERSPECTIVE

WHAT SHALL WE BE?

BY MINISTER DAVID A. HOLLOWELL

"Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be..." – John 3:2 (KJV)

Even though John was speaking of the grand unveiling of our celestial possibilities when Christ appears, we can take this scripture and apply it to our lives today as we move into the new year of 2011. Against the backdrop of a vision that Pastor Carter has drawn from his prayerful inquiries to the Lord in recent years, we as a congregation stand on the brink of allowing God to use Calvary in a special way. Though our plans have not all come to fruition, they are certainly in active development and in due time, will blossom into full display.

As we occupy, and tarry as the Lord forges our collective pathway, it is incumbent upon each of us to reach within ourselves to bring into the forefront the gifts and talents that He has endowed us with. 2011 can be the best year we have ever had, both corporately, as well as individually. As we have made the first exploratory steps into this glorious new year, let us now reflect upon our triumphs and trials during 2010, and to prepare ourselves for what God wants us to be in 2011.

Some of us may want to change some old habits, while others may use this time to plan our launch into new or revived initiatives: new interests, new ministries, more consistent visitation of the sick and shut-in, increased giving and support of missions, finally joining the choir, intentionally spending more quality time with family, working harder and smarter, losing weight, and countless other items.

But this year, let us resolve ourselves to action: to appropriate and actualize the possibilities that God has already placed within us. Let us not just make another round of weak resolutions, but instead, fashion a "made up mind" to be all that we can be. Just like beginning a diet, it is easy to make an initial vow of commitment, and to sustain a level of enthusiasm for a day, a week, or even a month or so. But achievement of success is inextricably tied to our attitudes and perspectives: Whatever we purpose in our hearts to accomplish in 2011 has to be not an occasional activity, but a commitment to a new lifestyle – empowered by God.

It is not easy to kick destructive or unproductive habits that we have been stuck with for years or decades. Nor is it easy to take on new challenges with new procedures, in a new environment. But if we baptize our efforts in prayer and enlist the help of God as our co-laborer, we can hope to become better contributors and over-comers. What shall you be in 2011? What shall we be in 2011? We will only be what our hearts and minds deem important, what our physical person works for, and what our spirits long and desire for. We may not know what we shall be, but we know that with the Lord's help we can be what He wants us to be. ■

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH GOLDEN YEARS MINISTRY AND MUSIC MINISTRY PRESENTS A BLACK HERITAGE LUNCHEON

HOW I GOT OVER

"Now when they began to sing and to praise, the LORD set ambushes against the people... who had come against Judah; and they were defeated." (2 Chronicles 20:22(NKJV))

From the bowels of slave ships during the Middle Passage to America's southern plantations to the Underground Railroad to the Jim Crow era to the Civil Rights movement, singing has been the means of expressing confidence, solidarity, defiance, strength, protest and victory. From the rhythm of the back-breaking moans of slaves laboring under heavy burdens, to the melodic call to the meeting place of escape, to the forceful sound of the marching beat – "ain't gonna let nobody turn me 'round," congregational singing served to reaffirm, energize and empower.

Calvary's Music Ministry, in collaboration with the Golden Years Ministry, has planned a musical extravaganza to commemorate the powerful place singing had in the black experience as we strove to achieve freedom and equality. To celebrate Black History Month, on Saturday, February 26 at 12PM, the Harlem Jubilee Singers, directed by Dr. Gregory Hopkins will present a history of gospel music.

Founded in 1982, The Harlem Jubilee Singers was born out of the Convent Avenue Baptist Church in Harlem, NY. Under Dr. Hopkins direction, the group has performed at Carnegie Hall, Jacob Javits Center, and the Schomburg Center to name a few. Dr. Gregory Hopkins, himself an operatic tenor, has been touring Latin America with the group for the past 10 years. They also have invitations to perform in Italy and France.

Please join us as we trace this historical thread of song along the road to freedom with the renowned Harlem Jubilee Singers refreshing our souls and our bodies at the 14th annual Black Heritage Luncheon – HOW I GOT OVER Saturday, February 26th.
